

Jack A. Litzenberg, Program Director
Charles Stewart Mott Foundation

Mr. Litzenberg is a Senior Program Officer at the Mott Foundation, responsible for program development and grantmaking activities in workforce development. He also mentors other Poverty team staff on grantmaking and portfolio management, and serves as underwriter for the Foundation's program-related investments. Mr. Litzenberg's past microenterprise work is considered to have influenced the efforts of at least three federal agencies. He is recognized as one of the early strategists on sectoral employment development. In 1994, Mr. Litzenberg received the Council of Foundations' Robert W. Scrivner Award for innovation and creativity in grantmaking, the highest award bestowed by the Council on a grantmaker.
